NUMBER 23

Death of a Good Woman.

Mrs. Mollie Hatcher, who was the wife of Mr. Sherrod Hatcher, died at her late home, on Greensburg road, four miles from Columbia, last Friday afternoon, between one and two o'clock. She was about sixty-three years old, a consecrated Christian, and her death is deeply deplored, not only by her husband and children, but by all people in the neighborhood where she so long resided.

The funeral services were held Saturday forenoon, many relatives and friends, who were in the profoundest sympathy for the husband and all other surviving members of the family, being present. To the husband who has lost a faithful companion, the children who have been separated from a loving mother, The News extends its sympathy, suggesting that they look to God for comfort in this trying hour of their lives.

Dr. Wright, of Williamsburg, who is assisting Rev. O. P. Bush in a series of meetings, at the Baptist church, arrived Monday afternoon, and the meeting is now in full headway. The pastor of the Church extends a cordial invitation and it is hoped that every body will attend. Rev. Wright is a strong preacher, and no one will fail to enjoy his sermons.

Delightfully Entertained.

Last Saturday Mrs. Rollin Hurt gave a dinner to Judge Hurt's brothers and a few of his friends, he being at home. Those present were, R. M., Y. E., and L. B. Hurt and wife, N. M. Tutt, J. E. Murrell and C. S. Harris. The turkey, Belgium hare and the many dainty dishes that tickle the palate and satisfy the appetite attested the culinary taste and powers not merely of Mrs. Hurt but also her mother, Mrs. Anna Strange, whose directions never fall below the highest point of expectancy in service to others. It is not our purpose to exaggerate, but plainly speaking, it was a dinner too good for royalty—just such as the best Americans are able to give to friends, and ample evidence was left that it was genuinely enjoyed. Mrs. Hurt and her mother are accomplished ladies and know how to make their guests enjoy such functions, not only in service at the table, but in social conversation as well. Before the party bade adieu, Mr. Ralph Hurt, her son, entertained with a few select pieces on the piano, both classical and ragtime—the melody striking deep into the noblest impulses of those present, and attested his skill and talent in music. Behold how good and how pleasant for friends to meet on such occasions.

COL. McMILLAN LOST,

But the Graceful Manner in Which He Surrendered the Kentucky Belle Brought Down the House.

We regret that we have not the space to give "A Kentucky Belle," Comic drama, pulled off Friday evening, the notice that is justly due it. It was one of the best entertainments ever given in Columbia by local talent and the actors and actresses should feel justly proud of their efforts.

The Gym was filled to its capacity, and only words of appreciation could be heard when the curtain dropped. Between acts singing and dancing were introduced. Little Davis Wilson, seven years old, danced a clog to perfection, and the singing of Mrs. Ray Montgomery, Mrs. George Hancock, Misses Madge Rosenfield, Vic Hughes, Cary Rosenfield, Minnie Ingram, Mary D. Patterson, Julia Miller, was inspiring. Henry Hancock and Miss Mabel Hindman, black faces, were in their best, keeping the audience in an uproar.

The acting of Misses Nettie Clark, Mabel Atkins, Edna Lewis, Mary Triplett, Messrs. Horace Walker, Smith Gill, Leon Lewis, Mrs. John Sandusky, Mrs. Jo Rosenfield, would have done credit to actors who have long been before the foot lights. Four telephone linemen, Lee Grissom, Jo Ed Flowers, Rollin Cundiff and Anderson Murrell delighted the audience with two melodious songs.

Mr. Ed Diddle and Mr. Edgar Reed were the tennis players.

Mrs. E. B. Barger was at the organ and credit is due Mrs. Jo Russell for drilling the troupe.

The play was given for the benefit of Columbia Eastern Star Chapter.

WATCH WORTH

FULLY $3,500

Finest Time-Piece in Kentucky
Result of Famous Medicine

Louisville, Apr. 7th. A very handsome watch is now on exhibition in this city.

The watch, which is the property of L. T. Cooper, the noted "Tanlac Man," is valued at $3,500, maybe a little more. Forty-seven flawless-cut diamonds are imbedded in its gold case, not to mention its equipment of pigeon-blood ruby jewels. This beautiful time-piece is exquisitely embellished with ornamentation of foreign workmanship and contains the finest Swiss movements. It is really worth seeing.

According to Mr. Cooper, the watch came into his possession through the merits of Tanlac. It happened, so he says, about this way:

In one of the large cities visited by Mr. Cooper some time ago, the young son of a wealthy jeweler suffered from a complaint which had baffled physicians of the city and Eastern specialists. The boy was anaemic, listless and not at all playful and as lively as the other little fellows of his own age. The parent said that the child's appetite was irregular, at times ravenous and that he was extremely nervous and complained of a twitching sensation most of the time. Itching of the nose and dizziness were other symptoms enumerated by the jeweler.

"He asked me," said Mr. Cooper, "if I thought Tanlac would help his child. In reply, I stated that he could test the medicine on its own merits. The result was that he bought Tanlac for his son.

"Thinking nothing particularly of the incident, I was a little surprised a few months later to receive a letter from the jeweler, stating that Tanlac had relieved his son, who was now rosy and running about like the rest of the boys and asking me if I would accept a 'small token of his appreciation.' I answered his letter, telling him that while I would appreciate his gift, the fact that Tanlac had accomplished the right results in his child's case was sufficiently gratifying to me.

Shortly afterward, this beautiful watch came. You can imagine my surprise. To me this gift is invaluable, because it bears a double meaning."

The famous medicine, Tanlac, can now be bought in Columbia at Page & Taylor's drug store. Ad.

Mr. W. E. McCandless, who has been a partner of Mr. Geo. H. Nell, in the grocery business, this place, for the past two years, sold his one-half interest a few days ago to Mr. Arvest Hill, of Gradyville, and the inventory will be taken the 20th of this month. Mr. McCandless is a good groceryman and commanded a liberal trade, and his friends are sorry that he will sever his connection with the store. He commends Mr. Hill, who is to be his successor to the trade, and speaks in glowing terms of Mr. Nell, their partnership having been perfectly satisfactory, and he predicts that the new firm will receive the same liberal patronage as has the old. Mr. McCandless' only reason for selling is, that he is going to embark in another class of business.

The Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

Editor News:—

In a recent issue of the Louisville Courier Journal, on the editorial page, (though it does not purport to be an editorial) which is not signed by anyone, there is a full column setting forth the woes of an imaginary taxpayer of Kentucky. The word picture represents a man as having died owning considerable estate equally divided on the one hand; lands, horses, cattle and other tangible personal property. On the other hand, stocks, bonds and other intangible personal property. Having two children, one a son and the other a daughter, they are represented as being allowed to make choice of the kind of property they will take. The son is represented as choosing lands, horses cattle and other tangible property, and the daughter being the wiser of the two as having chosen bonds, stocks and other intangible property. At this point the daughter drops out of the allegory, but the son is represented as being constantly pursued, harassed and oppressed with burdensome taxes, until in despair and anguish, he proclaims that "He will vote for the tax amendment." The inference evidently intended to be drawn from this article is that the sister was all right, and was not being taxed because there was no law to tax her, or that she was in some way able to escape taxation, and the brother by reason of the inequality of the present laws on the subject of taxation is being greatly oppressed, and he would vote for the tax amendment. But why does not the gentleman that produces this horrible picture pursue the subject to the point of telling the public what tax amendment he refers to, and further explain how and why the amendment referred to will relieve the poor, unfortunate brother? This article would not have been written or published except that it might be read and considered by the people. Why stop by picturing the unfortunate man's woes, and ending with sublime climax that he "Would vote for the tax amendment." This unfortunate man needs light on the subject, for he must be in dire distress. He is entitled to know and should know what the amendment is, that is to relieve him from his great burdens. If it is a Constitutional amendment that is being proposed, why does the writer not say so? Let the poor fellow look into the present provisions on that subject and see what they are. Why not give the text of the proposed amendment, and let the poor taxpayer decide for himself what he thinks of it? It would not have taken over one-eighth of the column occupied by this article to have inserted the vital part of the tax amendment that the writer evidently desires the taxpayer to vote for. Fact is that this article is evidently the forerunner of a campaign in favor of a constitutional amendment proposed, in which as heretofore, the real purpose of the amendment and the amendment itself is to be carefully withheld from the people and a lot of slush from time to time to be published in all the papers that will receive it for love or money, trusting that as taxes are high the people will be willing to vote for anything that promises a change. The promoters of this tax amendment scheme well know that if the people are led to know what the proposed amendment is, and the purpose of its promoters that it would be voted down by a large majority.

There are many sections in both the present constitution and the proposed amendment, but there are only two in the present constitution that contain the vital principles of taxation and one in the proposed amendment. Our present constitution after providing that certain household goods, church property, charitable and educational institutions, and crops grown in the year of assessment shall be exempt from taxation, has the following sections.

"172 All property not exempt from taxation by this constitution shall be assessed for taxation at its fair cash value, estimated at the price it would bring at a fair, voluntary sale."

Section 71. "Taxes shall be levied and collected for public purposes only. They shall be uniform upon all property subject to taxation within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, and all taxes shall be levied and collected by general laws." Now under these provisions should the Legislature undertake to pass any law that would place a tax upon property of any kind no matter by whom owned, that was not based on its fair cash value, or that made a different rate for different classes of property, or if any county or town should try to do the same it would be contrary to the constitution and void, so that unless the constitution is violated there can be no legal inequality in taxation, so that if under the present constitution any person escapes his just and equal proportion of taxation, it is not on account of any fault of the constitution, but because he is a violator of the law just like the fellow that violates any other law. What honest objection can there be to every man or woman, rich or poor, bearing their just proportion of the taxes; be they high or low, for State, county or town purposes? In other words what objection can there be honestly urged to equality among all the people on the question of bearing the burdens of our public affairs be they great or small?

Now let us consider the vital points in the proposed amendment. Here it is. "The General Assembly shall have power to divide property into classes, and determine what class or classes of property shall be subject to local taxation. Bonds of the State and of counties, municipalities, taxing and school districts shall not be subject to taxation."

Why classify property, and why should the Legislature be permitted to say that one class should be subject to local taxation and another not, unless there is to be some inequality? If some class of property should be exempted from local taxation, what class of property is to be exempted and why should one class be exempted in preference to another? All taxes are local except State taxes. County taxes, town taxes, school, county and district taxes are all local. When the local taxes are added up, they are always much more than the State taxes. Yet these taxes have to be paid. Who is going to pay them, and whose property or what class of property is going to be exempt from their payment under the proposed amendment. If any is exempted, which is the evident intention of the promoters of this amendment, then the burden will necessarily be increased on those who are not exempted, for the expenses must be paid in some way and by some body. Now my idea is that this is a question in which all the people in the State are vitally interested. It is a public question and a very important one. Any man that thinks this amendment should be adopted, should urge its adoption either through the papers or by speeches, but he should deal fairly with the people, and instead of contenting himself with prating about the present burdens of taxation tell the people how they are to be relieved. If by a constitutional amendment show up the amendment and explain wherein the relief is to come about by its adoption. If by classification of property for taxation, let him give his idea as to how it should be classified, and why, and what property should be subject to local taxation, and what property is to be exempt from local taxes and why, and what he proposes to do with the property that is not to be subject to local taxation. Come out in the open, take hold of and discuss the proposition as it is, and not try to represent it in allegories; as is done in the article first herein referred to.

HEALTH OFFICER'S COLUMN.

BY U. L. TAYLOR.

My subject for this week is Trachoma, granulates eye lids, or old fashioned sore eyes. The mountain counties of Kentucky are infected by a disease known as trachoma, and quite a number of cases were on exhibition at the Health Officer's School last September at Pineville, Ky. Many cases had been brought there for the purpose of showing the visiting doctors that the mountain counties have other troubles beside the hook worm disease. It is a disease which was somewhat common in Adair county about the middle of the 19th century, when I began the practice of medicine. Among the cases which I saw at Pineville, were some totally blind, some blind in one eye, and then all grades from the very slightest, to the most severe. There have been many commissions from the United States hospital service at Washington D. C., for the purpose of seeing to what alarming extent the people of Kentucky were afflicted with this severe malady. The original survey in 1912, included the counties of Knott, Leslie, Perry, Breathitt, Lee, Owsley and Clark, all of which are mountain counties with the exception of Clark, which is in the blue grass region, although bordering on the mountains. In these seven counties 3,974 were then examined and five hundred of them or 12 per cent., were found to be suffering from trachoma. I suppose that many of the Adair county teachers take and read the Adair County News and I hope to induce all of them to do so, because it is for their benefit largely that these letters are being written. The last investigation has included 23 counties, all but three of which are in the mountain or Eastern part of the State. A detailed survey was made in all these sections, each one being visited for the purpose of locating the most heavily infected portions. While the disease has been found widely scattered, it is not evenly distributed, but exists in nests so to speak, and some sections are comparatively free from it. A total of 18,016 persons were examined, and 1,280 or practically 7 per cent., were found to be suffering from trachoma. Of these examined, 16,696 were school children, and 1,324 were persons examined outside of the schools. Only a small number of negroes were examined, since there are very few in the mountains. The census of 1910 gives only 13,000 blacks in a population of 561,861 in the 35 mountain counties. We found very few blacks infected, and like hook worm, the blacks seem to be practically immune from it. The type of the disease in this section is very severe and its mutilating effects are seen everywhere. In order to fully appreciate the suffering among the victims of this disease, one would have to actually see these cases in Kentucky. The disease untreated remains more or less throughout the lifetime of the individual, a constant bodily discomfort to himself, damages his eyesight, and constitutes him a menace to his neighbor. Trachoma is a very contagious disease, and it used to be generally believed that it could be transmitted by simply looking at one with sore eyes, but I think this is a mistake. It can be caught however, by using the same washpan, the same towel, and the same dishes at the same table, and using the same dipper for drinking purposes. It can be contracted in many ways, and the wonder to me is, that in these mountain counties all are permitted to attend school together. The census of 1910 shows that the population of these 20 counties is 300,000, and the general average of trachoma found among the people examined was 8 per cent. If the same rate of prevalence would exist among the rest of the population there would be 24,000 cases of the disease in 20 of the 35 mountain counties. Estimating that the other 15 counties have 250,000 population and the same amount of inspection, this would add 15,000 more trachoma cases, making a total of 39,000 of this communicable disease in the mountain section alone. Trachoma is also reported in the Western portion of the State, particularly in the counties of Muhlenburg, Butler and Anderson. An investigation made by the service in the winter of 1913-14, of the school children of Jefferson county showed that 805 had trachoma, and it would not be surprising therefore, to find upon investigation, that the disease was present in practically every part of the State. In the hook worm campaign, conducted by Dr. Lock in Adair county, he found one case of trachoma, but it was so mild that it would, and did escape my notice. But the foregoing facts show a fearful condition of affairs in our State. A fearfully contagious disease, running riot among our people, causing blindness and defective vision among tens of thousands of our citizens, with practically nothing being done to relieve the situation. When I start out to visit the schools this coming summer, I shall make it a point to examine the eyes of every pupil present. Of course the time allotted to me in my visits would preclude the idea of making a critical examination, but I will be able to tell if the disease exists to any great extent, and I shall remove from the school every suspicious case, and turn them over to their regular family physician.

Told That There Was No Cure for Him.

"After suffering for over twenty years with indigestion and having some of the best doctors here tell me there was no cure for me, I think it only right to tell you for the sake of other sufferers as well as your own satisfaction that a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets not only relieved me but cured me within two months although I am a man of 65 years," writes J. L. Groblien, Houston, Texas. For sale by Paul Drug Co. Ad.

The Perfect Laxative For Elderly People

Age has its attractions no less than youth in a more serene and quieter life. But it is this very life of rest without sufficient exercise that brings with it those disorders that arise from inactivity. Chief of these are a chronic, persistent constipation. Most elderly people are troubled in this way, with accompanying symptoms of belching, drowsiness after eating, headaches and general lassitude. Frequently there is difficulty of digesting even light food. Much mental trouble ensues, as it is hard to find a suitable remedy. First of all the advice may be given that elderly people should not use salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters or any of the more violent purgatives. What they need, women as well as men, is a mild laxative tonic, one that is pleasant to take and yet acts without gripping.

The remedy that fills all these requirements, and has in addition tonic properties that strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of elderly people use, to the exclusion of all other remedies. Trustworthy people like A. B. Figgitt, Oaklawn Farm, Newbern, Tenn., and Mrs. Lizzie S. Brooks, Paris, Ky., say they take it at regular intervals and in that way not only maintain general good health, but that they have not in years felt as good as they do now. You will do well to always have a bottle of it in the house. It is good for all the family.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Dr. W. R. Grissom.

No blessing surpasses that of a true friend. The very fact that we enjoy the favor of a noble spirit is a stimulus whose effect on our lives is always to exalt character and to bring to fruition that which is best in us. There is some encouragement in the fact that we have a disposition even to respond to wholesome influences.

It is also reassuring to us to know that one who has made contribution to our own lives while here does not cease in that kindly ministry after he has gone. Good men's lives are not buried with their bodies. The stream of influence flows stronger and is hallowed by death. The expectation that we will be welcomed by familiar friends when we come to that new country cheers the pilgrim here.

Those were fortunate who could count W. R. Grissom as a friend. Life was made richer by his good fellowship, and the memory of such a friend is a constant inspiration, and the hope of resuming that happy association is a boon to quicken gratitude. He was a husband and father of unswerving devotion, as a physician he so wrought as to commend as to commend as almost sacred his noble profession, as a christian he commended the religion of his Master by the life he lived. "Out of the heart are the issues of life," and the stream of his influence must have come from a fountain of singular purity.

Propriety prevents my opening the door where only the faithful family physician is admitted, but in my own family "Dr. Griss" will always be a sacred household word.

This is the "Thornhill" Wagon — the Wagon that Must Make Good

The best known materials—the labor of master workmen—the aid of the most ingenious modern machinery have been employed to make the Thornhill wagon.

The wheels are made with excessive care. For the spokes the manufacturers use the finest hickory—machine driven to insure the right dish. The hubs are of oak, thoroughly seasoned and banded with double refined sable iron.

The bolsters are of the best white oak. They have an iron plate at top and bottom, riveted through and through—multiplying their strength.

The "Thornhill" has a malleable front hound plate that is braced to the hounds at all points. This is an exclusive "Thornhill" feature. It prevents the gears from ever getting out of line and causing hard pulling.

"Thornhill" wagons are equipped with long sleeve malleable—non-breakable skeins that insure light running, and outlast any other skein. Each skein is fitted to its axle with a Defiance machine—infallibly accurate. This machine insures the right pitch and tuck, makes light draft a certainty.

The axles are of toughest nickory—the steel axles of the best refined steel.

The sides of "Thornhill" beds are made of poplar. It costs the makers more—but it holds paint better and gives better service.

Come in and see this wagon—sold under a binding guarantee.

Sold By WOODSON LEWIS
GREENSBURG, KENTUCKY.

The Thornhill Wagon is not the lowest priced—but the best, and in the end the cheapest.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

some Forms of Rheumatism Curable

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are. Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially Rheumatic Pain, because it penetrates to the seat of the trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." To my Friends of Adair Co.;

I have been away from home for a long time and have not seen your paper, but learn through friends that you have had weather considerably the same as we have had here. The thermometer registered as low as 23 degrees below zero. We are now having rain which is very agreeable, as we are said to be fifty two inches short in rainfall, and we are told lots of rain is the only riddance of the chinch bug for another farming season, we have the past three years of drouth.

Illinois is a beautiful country, but I do not see much of its pleasure, as my health is bad. The writer with a number of other Kentucky people spent a most delightful day at the home of Mr. Steve Word, Feb. 14. The delicious birthday dinner was finished with a crate of oranges and a large turkey presented by the landlord and his manager.

One, Jim W. Baker, a native of Glasgow, Ky., was arrested here last week, on a warrant from Springfield Ill., accusing him of selling a carload of corn which did not belong to him. In order to keep from going to jail, while awaiting the coming of a sheriff from Springfield, he proposed to pay for a guard. He was then placed in care of Eugene Wooten, who took the prisoner to his own home. Saturday morning just before daybreak he took French leave of Mr. Wooten and left for parts unknown. About two hours after the escape the sheriff from Springfield arrived.

Best Wishes,
Thrisa Edwards.

Crocus.

Quite a number of our farmers are turning corn ground for the new crop.

Mrs. Joe Miller is at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Walter Armstrong of Creelsboro, who has been very sick for some time.

Mr. J. L. Blair, who has been confined to his room with pulmonary trouble since last fall, is somewhat better.

A good mare, the property of Owen Hays, got badly hurt a few days ago, in jumping a gate. It will probably die.

William, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Dudley, was made the victim of a very painful accident one day last week. He climbed on to the back of a chair which turned over, throwing him face foremost against the door of a hot stove, cutting, bruising and burning his face seriously. Dr. S. A. Taylor was called and sewed up the cut in the little ones forehead and administered to his other injuries.

The better element of our citizenship was both delighted and shocked over the blowing up of the Sandlick "Shinery." Delighted to get rid of a public nuisance that has for years outraged morality in this section and horrified that in this land of stringent liquor laws that anarchy should have to be restored to, to rid a community of an institution that is a crime against common decency. If there had ever been even a half-hearted effort made toward the enforcement of that Kentucky statute that provides board and lodging for the proprietors of such establishments at county jails said boarder, paying for his keep at pounding rock, while wearing an iron anklet with ball and chain attachment said "shinery" would have long since been a matter of history.

The most signal triumph ever scored in the interest of the commercial development of Adair county was made when our Fiscal Court decided to accept state aid in the development of our roads. Provisions having been made for macadamizing the Jamestown road. Let the good work go on till the people on the Liberty, Campbellsville, Greensburg, Edmonton and Burkesville roads have the advantage of hard roads. After a few years, with local aid, county aid, state aid and national aid in vogue we may have roads worthy of the name.

Splendid for Rheumatism.

"I think Chamberlain's Liniment is just splendid for rheumatism," writes Mrs. Dunburgh, Eldridge N. Y. GRADYVILLE STOCK FARM

NOBLE PEACOCK No. 6828, will make the season of 1915 at $10.00 to insure a mare with foal. Noble Peacock has proven himself to be the best breeder in Southern Kentucky. His first colts were shown at the Columbia Fair in 1913, and won the blue tie every time they entered the ring, defeating a number of colts by some of the most noted horses of Kentucky. Some of them by Rex Monroe, of Springfield, Ky., a horse that stands for $50.00, and some by Bald Chief, that stands for $25.00.

My plan is to Live and Let Live, and I have this to say to the men that owns a Stallion in Adair and adjoining counties, Russell, Casey, Taylor, Green, Metcalfe and Cumberland, that each owner of a Stallion in the above named counties, make a jack pot of the amount of the season that his horse is licensed for, and deposit same with the secretary of the Columbia Fair Association by the time the bell rings on the morning of the first day of the next Columbia Fair and let the get of the best lot of colts from sucklings to yearlings take the money.

NOBLE PEACOCK

There is not a better bred Stallion lying than Noble Peacock. His colts have the size and style and lots of air and dash that make them look like the fine Peacock mare that won the $500 Saddle Stake, at the Columbia Fair in 1913, when she defeated some of the most noted horses of Kentucky, by such sires as Rex Peavine and Montgomery Chief, two stallions that stands at $75.00 each. Now if the Peacocks can defeat horses by such sires as these, and with such noted men as Sam McKin, of Lebanon, and Dock Dry, of Hustonville, Ky., judging, isn't that proof enough that there is none as good as the Peacock's. Read Noble's pedigree and you will see that there is none better bred than this grand young sire.

NOBLE PEACOCK No. 6828, A. S. H. R. was sired by Jordan Peacock No. 1148, he by Peacock 498, he by Blue Jeans No. 3. Blue Jeans by Phillips' Black Horse, his dam Sallie W. Blue Jeans' dam by Legrand, Dan Peters' Halcomb 3241. Jordan's dam

Lena Rivers 760, she by Cabbells Lexington 3234, he by Gists Black Hawk, he by Bloods Black Hawk, out of a mare by Tom Hal 3237. Lizzie Jordan was by Louis Jordan Th., she out of a mare by Waggener Th. Noble's first dam Daisy Artist 11229 by Artist Jewell 882, he by 2nd Jewell 48, he by Jewell Denmark 70, he by Washington Denmark 64. Noble's 2nd dam by Artist 75, he by King William 67. Artist's dam Lucy 50, by Brinker's Drennon 1600. Noble's 3rd dam by Counselor. If you want the best colt you ever raised, bring your mares to Noble. Some of his colts sold last fall, at weaning time, for $100. Jesse Breeding was offered $106 cash for a mare colt at three months old.

DESCRIPTION: Noble is 15½ hands high, dark bay, with star and snip, and white hind feet. Looks very much like his sire, Jordan Peacock. Has a long goose neck and a beautiful head, with a pair of large brown eyes and the best of feet and legs. He has fine style and goes with head and tail up. He goes all five of the saddle gaites.

10 GOOD JACKS

Jacks.

I have 10 Jacks and will stand just as many of them as will take to accommodate my customers. At the head of this fine herd of Jacks is Highway, a jack that has made a great reputation as a breeder. He is 15 1-2 hands, with style, weight and bone—black with white points, and is the best breeder I ever owned. Some of his colts sold last fall at weaning time for $100. I never heard of mules by any other jack selling for $100. Last fall, two years ago, his colts sold as high as $125 at weaning time, and I sold one pair, two years old, for $440. When you breed to this jack you get a colt. I have been in the breeding business for 37 years and this is the surest jack I have ever seen.

PEDIGREE OF HIGHWAY.

Highway was sired by Highwool, a 15 1-2 hand jack that was owned by L. W. Preston, of Glasgow, and sold by him for $1,000. Highway's dam by Gov. St. John, a 16 hand jack, he by Gov. Wood. Highway's 2d dam by Hubbles Brignalia, 16 hands and was sold for $1,500.

Another jack I will stand is

a coming 4 year old, the greatest prospect I have ever seen. He is 16 1-4 hands high, 9 feet and 8 inches from his mouth to the root of his tail. 72 inches around the girth, 42 inches from end of nose to tip of ear; 36 inches from tip to tip of ears; 16 inches around the knee, 22 inches around the arm; 21 inches around the hock, and 28 inches around stifle joint. You will say when you see him he is the best jack you have ever seen. He is by Highway.

Ky. Choice is by Highway, first dam by a 16 hand jack that was owned by Sam Aken, 4 miles west of Greensburg, and sold by him for $900. Kentucky

Choice 2d dam by Terry's Liberty, a 16 hand jack that sold for $1,200.

Another jack is

Kentucky Best,

by Highway, 2 years old, 15 1-2 hands, black with white points, large bone, extra length, the best head I ever saw. His dam by Gov. St. John, a 16 hand jack. Another is Happy Jack.

He is 3 years old, 15 hands, and the best muddle I ever saw. Black with white points, and by Highway. Another one is two years old, 15 hands, extra heavy, lots of bone and body, and a good one from the hoof up. Another is Jack O' Diamonds.

This Jack is 4 years old, and has for his sire Black Diamond, a 16 hand jack owned by G. Y. Thompson, Center Ky. This Jack showed a fine lot of colts last year and some of them were as good as I ever saw. C. C. Claycomb raised one of his mules that was near 14 hands at weaning time. Now if you want mules that will bring the most money, bring your mares to my stock.

I will stand as many jacks as it will take to do the business. I have been in the breeding business 37 years, and I do not keep anything but the very best, and I know how to handle stock of this kind. I always have my stock well broke and under my control—never had an accident in breeding.

I will charge $10 00 for mare mules and $8 00 for horse mules. Money due when mares are traded or removed from the neighborhood. If mare loses colt by carelessness of the owner, he must pay the season.

W. L. GRADY, Gradyville, Ky.
